LION NINE FACES FORDHAM TODAY IN RETURN GAME

Daily to Philips

Coach Coleay to Use Price or Van Brocklin

Opponents Have Captured One Out of Four Bases

First Game With Locals

Columbia's ball team will enter upon its second week of the season tomorrow afternoon, when it encounters the Fordham nine on South Field. The contest will be a return engagement, as the Maroons took the Blue and White into camp by a score of 7 to 4 at Fordham on April 24.

Fordham's record for the season has been nothing to boast of this year, the Maroons having lost nine of its fifteen games. Since their initial meeting with Columbia, the Fordham college players have counted, scoring an overwhelming victory over Pennsylvania Poly and winning both games by easy margins, over New York University.

Expect Close Contest

Comparative scores seem to indicate a close contest this afternoon. Both Columbia and Fordham have opposed N. Y. C. on two occasions, Columbia having bagged both games with the Violets, and the Blue and White breaking even. Penn administered a 19-0 thrashing to the Maroons at Philadelphia and defeated the Lions by a 14-1 tally, while Yale scored a 2-1 victory over the Fordhamites after a 5-3 tie game with the Columbia team.

Coach Clark Will Take Price or Van Brocklin on the mound, with the odds favoring the latter.

Following the last相遇 that with moments on May 3, resulted in a 7-7 tie game with the Yale Violets, Dr. Wyco has not worked since the Penn contest. This failure to win has cost Columbia the first four, in losing the last four innings, Coach Coleay will probably give Gehrig for Thursday's game with Dartmouth.

Manahan Shifted to Right

The third baseman is again in the box and Gehrig is at first. Manahan will be shifted to right field for today's game against the Violets. In Saturday's game with the Violets, no changes are contemplated in the Columbia lineup. The Lions are heavy hitters against Cornell Friday and have been expected to be a strong outfit.

Class Parade and Hanging Trophy

Sophomores will hold a funeral procession for the hanging and burning of an effigy at the 1925 Triumph which takes place tomorrow evening in the Forum. Those in charge have requested students to appear in costumes or pajamas at the trial of the figures, with which charge the forlorn Phills may be mugged.

Homer Eddins, Trueman Fowler, Joseph Lillard, and Blanchard Smith will be responsible for the entertainment in East Hall at 4 o'clock today. Tickets for the Triumph may be secured at the class meeting where Lawrence Tillman, has scheduled in 419 Tigers at 11:30 o'clock today, from those of the committee, or from Richard Marshall in his residence.

JIMMY AND JOHNNY

Once upon a time there were two little boys who were the closest of chums, even closer, perhaps, than Damon and Pythias, of whom they had read so much in their school books. One’s name was Jimmy and the other was called Johnny.

The two had adjacent seats in the little school rooms and out of school they were together constantly. They played at the same checker board, attended the same recitations together, and hung their clothes on the “No Swimming Allowed” sign together on hot July days.

Staunch friends as were these two boys, there was one striking difference between them, which was essentially a difference of temperament. Jimmy did his school work diffidently, turning in his homework on time and studying his lessons with the utmost conscientiousness. But Johnny, the more enterprising of the two, shirked his work and preferred to spend his evenings either at the one-horse moving picture house of the little town or reading “Courageous Carl” or the “Course of Niven.”

Jimmy continued to attend his work even when the balmy spring atmosphere and the falling dews of autumn did their work on his mind and body out of doors. But Johnny was not so insatiable to the tempting and alluring call of spring. When he was supposed to be hard at work at his books his mind was far, far away planning the little tent that he intended to build for vacation days and rehearsing the camp song he would take up the stream that wound around the old barn at the bottom of the hill.

Finally, examination time drew near. Jimmy calmly reviewed the work of the term, but Johnny found himself well nigh in the last log, a fact which, when known to his editor, Johnny at last took aside “Courageous Carl” and mildly pressed his way thru “Sixth Grade Arithmetic,” “Johnson’s Geography,” and “Elementary School Grammar.” He stayed up late at nights and found it difficult to fall asleep when he did climb into bed. He grew pale and weak and he suffered from severe headaches and chill flashes.

Examinations came to a close. Jimmy passed all his subjects. Johnny passed all his subjects. Vacation time arrived and Jimmy was a little lento and took a whopper of a canoe trip. But Johnny was sick in bed for three weeks with an ailment which the doctor pronounced “brain strain” and general exhaustion. When he finally was permitted to leave his bed, he was made to work two days with the hose to engage in any strenuous exercise and thus the greater part of his vacation was ruined.

New Johnny has lost all affection for “Courageous Carl.” He has scribbled a few words on the title page of the book and now the caption reads, “Courageous Carl or the Curse of the Drowned.”

The Off-Hour

Social Register

John Krauker’s “The Kinds of Poetry” (Duffield) has caused him to be given the title of “Best Poet in the Land” at the College of Poets, and his critics are all in agreement, for he has written a poem which is excellent poetry criticism.

“The Adding Machine,” the Theatre Guild’s immensely popular offering of this year, is known to be a fine and meaningful success. Robert South’s “yst” is most charming at persiflage and is a very apt description of the man himself. It is known that an amusing lecture will be given at the College of Poets by the noted critic, Mr. South. The lecture will be held at 8:00 o’clock on Thursday evening.

But the greatest moment of the evening will come when the late Prof. A. M. Bennett, who has been a prominent figure in the literary world for many years, will deliver the annual address at the College of Poets. The address will be given at 9:00 o’clock and will be followed by a reception in the College’s banquet hall.

TO FUSE RELIGIOUS CLUBS

Bernard Organizations will Unite Next Year in Social Work

Bernard religious organizations will cooperate next year in carrying out the college's inter-religious and social service work, it was announced Saturday by Dean Virginia G. Gilderlee.

The plans involved are in the hands of the W. C. O., the Newman Club, and the Hebrew Cultural Society, which have been preparing their activities separately.

In making the announcement, Dean Gilderlee said, "In their religious activities, each of the clubs is to retain its own identity. However, the three are to unite in monthly forums for the discussion of religious subjects. In this way an interchange of ideas will be made possible as a deeper understanding of each club of the principles of the others."

LAW SCHOOL TO HEAR
TALK BY JUDGE MAYER

Judge Julius M. Mayer '81, 21 Here, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, will deliver the last lecture of the semester given under the auspices of the Lecture Committee of the Student Council of the Law School today at 1:15 p.m. in 611 Kent. His talk will concern himself with the practical problems confronting law students and lawyers and any college man interested in law is invited to attend.

Because of his long practice, including some deportation cases during the war, Judge Mayer is well versed in his subject. He is an Alumus, and his work in his class is otherwise greatly interested in Columbia affairs.

DR. GATES TALKS AT VESPERS

Dr. Mills H. Gates, of the Chapel of the Nazarene, was the speaker at vespers yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Purple Chapel. At the conclusion of the service, Professor Hall played the Prelude to Lehman's and the 'Evening Star' by Richard Wagner.

SUPPLEMENT ISSUES POSTPONED

A scheduled baseball game between the teams of the Mandala and Ode Clubs has been postponed from tomorrow until Thursday afternoon. The game will be played on Van Cortlandt Park.

COLUMBIA ANNOUNCES DISPOSAL OF 350 BOOKS

Only a few years back are offered for sale—Annual Dinner Tomorrow Night

Members of the Columbia board reported last night that the final day's dollars of this year's annual had proceeded extremely favorable, more than 50 cents of the yearbook having been given out.
Included in this number were a great many new members of this year's class.

Business Manager Burton B. Ma-then, it is not true that only a limited number of copies will be offered for sale at $4.50 each, most of the receipts will go to subscribers. The sale of extra copies will continue until the end of Hamilton and Journalism only for today, but the books will be on sale at the A. A. window in East Hall for the remainder of the week or until the entire lot is disposed of.

Annuals will also be given out at the A. A. windows on full-paid and paid subscriptions during the month of March so that these students can take their books away with them.

Those fraternities and campus organizations which have not yet paid for their insertions in the Collections are requested by Mr. Karr to hand in their payment as soon as possible.
They are as follows: Acacia, Alpha Xi Delta, Athletics, Phi, Sigma Phi, Beta Sigma Rho, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Beta Phi, Delta Chi, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Sigma Kappa, Sigma Nu, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Sigma Rho, Delta Sigma Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Beta Delta Phi, Zeta Beta Chi, Grand Pomona Phi, Phi Delta Chi, Sigma Delta Chi, Sigma Lambda Chi, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Sigma Xi, Tau Delta Phi, and Tau Lambda.

A student who is not a member of the yearbook for the annual furnishes the annual, which is to be held on Monday night at 8 o'clock on the campus.

FINIAL REPORTS REQUESTED Ticket settlers for the West Point project are requested to turn in their reports to the final reports folder on the campus.
